MINISTER BREAKS HIS LONG SILENGE Grand Orchestral Concert

Dr. Schell Makes Public Confession of Ray Lamphere.

DETAILS MURDER OF MRS. GUNNESS

Secrets of Famous Death Farm Are Finally Revealed-Many Met Their Fate at Hands of Woman Who Was Herself Killed.

The Rev. E. A. Schell, D. D., president of lowa Wesleyan University, broke his long silence to-day and gave to the Tribune the confession of Ray Lamphere, made to him in the county jail at La Porte, Ind., April, 1908. Dr. Schell authorized the publication of the confession, and described how it was given to him.

When seen by a representative of the Tribune in his office at the Iowa Wesleyan University he dictated the following statement of his reasons for making public the confession:

"In view of the conflicting reports which continue to keep alive interest in the Gunness case and the interrogations which must continually arise in The Rev. E. A. Schell, D. D., presiin the Gunness case and the interrogations which must continually arise in the minds of sorrowing friends, and recognizing that the principal facts already are made public, I have concluded to relieve myself of further responsibility by communicating to the public through the Chicago Tribune the details of my three conversations with the late Ray Lamphere in the fail at La Porte, the statements he made to me and the circumstances under which they were made."

Here follows the story of Dr. Schell's visit to Lamphere, after which the statement continues:

The Confession.

Here to Lamphere, and statement continues:

The Confession.

"To promised not to tell the prosecuting attorney, and after some two hours of general conversation about Mrs. Gunness he told me the story of the night as follows:

"I had been intimate with Mrs.
Gunness from June, 1907, while as carpenter and man of all work I was around the house. Three times at her request I purchased chloroform, and once I dug a hole in the hog lot for her and helped her put in the body of her and and once I dug a hole in the hog lot for her and helped her put in the body of some one, who, she said, had died suddenly about the house and she thought the easiest way was to cover him up and say nothing about it."

"Lamphere went on to say that he had no suspicions of Mrs. Gunness having murdered any one until one night, when he returned suddenly from Michigan City, and having bored some holes through a wall, saw her administer some chloroform to a man and hit him in the back of the head with a hatchet. He then said that he had taken money from Mrs. Gunness several times, making her dig up, or he would tell on her. Once she gave him $50, at another time $15 and again $55. He would then go to the saloons, him $50, at another time $15 and again $55. He would then go to the saloons, and when he was sober once more he would find the money all gone.

"On Sunday night, after he and a negress he mentioned had been drinking about 11 o'clock, the two went together to the Gunness house, letting themselves in by a key which he had, and going quietly so as not to disturb another hired man, who was in the house. With some of the chloroform which he had purchased for Mrs. Gunty Walley, W house. With some of the chloroform which he had purchased for Mrs. Gunness before Helgelein disappeared, and part of which he put into another bottle, the two gave Mrs. Gunness some chloroform, holding it under her nose chloroform, holding it under her nose until she became quiet. The little boy was in bed with her. They then gave it to the two children who were in bed in another room.

"I asked him to explain how all were together when found. He said he did not know, that he was pretty drunk, but that was the way he remembered it.

Found Little Money.

"They then searched the house for the large sum of money which they felt sure was hidden in the house, but found only a small amount. He did fett sure was hidden in the house, but found only a small amount. He did not set the house on fire, though he said he was not certain that the negress did not do it, for she was as drunk as he.

"He stoutly protested that he had not arranged a candle so that it would burn down and later set fire to the place, and that he had nothing in his mind more than to get money enough to have a big time with.

"He and the negress left the house together, and at a certain point in the

"He and the negress left the house together, and at a certain point in the road she went home, and he went running away, greatly afraid because he saw the house burning. I advised him to tell the story to the prosecuting attorney and save the county the cost of the trial and his sisters the expense of defending him. I told him I would see Attorney Smith and ask him to be casy on him, and allow him to consult with a lawyer before a plea of guilty was made. I met Smith almost immediately after leaving the isil, and told him Lamphere was going to confess.

"I advised him to arrest the negress "I advised him to arrest the negress, but he attached no importance to it, and I urged him to let Lamphere have a lawyer. He asked me if Lamphere had confessed, and I made an avasive arrayse."

JINERS ORDERED TO KEEP FACES CLEAN

KEEP FACES CLEAN [Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.]
St. Petersburg, January 15.—"Clean aces when off duty." Is a new official regulation issued for the benefit f miners in the Alexandrovsk coleries. The honest pitmen, it seems, re in the habit of strolling into the bwn when their work is done, and rinking in the taverns, with the coalrime still on their faces.
This constitutes an effective disulse, and the police are unable to cognize the men by their features, a police-ridden country like Russia, is undestrable from the official viewint that men should conceal their entity in a mask of coal-grime; erefore, the Governor has issued a reular ordinance forbidding the piten to enter the town with unwashed ces. The penalty is summary arst as suspected masked robbers. To ip the men observe the new regulam, colliery proprietors are ordered provide proper lavatories at the pited.

Facts About Burlingame Stock.

To Our Stockholders and the Public:

It is a well known fact in the financial world that the Burlingame Underwriters were unusually successful in the raising of the necessary capital for the Burlingame Telegraphing Typewriter Company. The Underwriters raised a large amount of capital in a very short time, thereby enabling the company to withdraw its stock from sale much earlier than was anticipated. No industrial concern in the United States of as wide a scope was ever financed in a shorter time.

The cut-rate brokers lost no time in an attempt to create speculation and lave taken advantage of every opportunity the situation afforded to demoralize the confidence of stockholders. This is not at all surprising, for the stock was widely distributed and the company back of it has perfect control over PRINTING TELEGRAPHY. The brokers have also had the advantage of the progress made by the company since the stock was withdrawn from sale. For the past six months the Burlingame Telegraphing Typewriters have been working daily over a regular telegraph wire between Boston, Mass., and Providence, R. I. Each instrument receives and sends typewritten messages, side by side, on the same desk and over the same wire with a Morse code key. The extreme activity of these cut-rate traders caused us to make an investigation and brought out the following facts, which we wish to place before our stockholders and the public, to protect them against fraudulent transactions:

Some holders of Burlingame Escrow Receipts-receipts which were not transferable and which were issued through an agreement on the part of the original organizers of the company-have attempted to negotiate same, thereby causing cancellation of the stock on the books of the company. All such certificates are not worth the paper they are written on. Stocks of greatest value always provide a working basis for speculative traders, and Burlingame has been no exception to the rule.

Some certificates have been stolen and are now in fraudulent hands. Some have attempted to sell certificates which were not in their possession-stock that was subscribed for on deferred payments and is still in the various banks where collections were handled for the company. Still other schemes have been devised to create a dis-satisfaction on the part of stockholders and thus stimulate speculation. DO NOT BUY BOGUS STOCK with good money. There is always a way to be sure of your position.

In view of these facts, we offer to protect the holders and purchasers of Burlingame stock as follows: Regardless of who makes the sale or where the stock comes from, we will investigate the certificate and, if transferable, we will transfer same to the name of the last purchaser free of all cost. Certainly any one having legitimate stock for sale will not object to its being handled in a way that will be a protection to all concerned. There is little of this stock being offered anywhere at the present time, but several sales have been made in the past, by parties who were not bonifide holders, which will not stand the test when dividends are forthcoming. We are willing to do our part to protect those most vitally interested.

As is always the case in the promotion of any great concern, a few stockholders are forced to sell their holdings before the company is on a divident-paying basis and before the stock has secured a natural value on the open market. Such stock is generally offered at a low figure, but it doesn't mean that the company back of it is not progressing. From time to time we have stock for sale which has reverted to the ownership of the Underwriters, and this stock we try to place with business men or investors who will appreciate the opportunity of purchasing stock at this late date. It is not handled through brokers.

The Burlingame Telegraphing Typewriter Company and the new factory are in splendid shape, and in the near future will exert a powerful influence in the transmission of all messages, either by wire or wireless—Burlingame instruments have been demonstrated by both methods. Better progress was never made by any great industrial concern of world-wide importance, and the stockholder who remains loyal to the company will be the one to appreciate these facts in a short time.
